BAD DAY ON U.S. 421

Madison firefighters and Indiana Department of Transportation crew members survey the damage to a truck and a section of U.S. 421 north of Madison Thursday morning after the driver lost control of a rig hauling steel and crashed about a half-mile north of the State Road 250 intersection. Courier staff report

Thursday was a bad day for U.S. 421 and the drivers on the roadway from Madison's hilltop past Bedford.

The problems began about 6 a.m. north of Madison when a truck driver was injured, his rig demolished and a section of U.S. 421 damaged and closed for about eight hours after a tractor-trailer hauling coiled steel overturned just outside the city limits.

Indiana State Police said Roy G. Wilson, 49, of Butler, was southbound in a 2006 Peterbilt 18-wheeler hauling steel when the truck went off the roadway and Wilson overcorrected. The rig traveled a couple of hundred feet along the shoulder of the roadway before overturning and blocking both lanes of U.S. 421.

The crash dumped three rolls of coiled steel off the trailer and demolished the truck and trailer, which both came to rest upside down with the cab heavily damaged. Wilson was seriously injured and taken to King's Daughters' Hospital by KDH EMS and later transferred to University of Louisville Hospital.

The impact caused a leak in the fuel tank of the truck and Madison Fire Department was sent to the scene for containment. U.S. 421 was blocked with all traffic detoured at the State Road 250 intersection to the south and at County Road 400 North to the north.

The crash gouged out portions of the southbound lane of U.S. 421 and an Indiana Department of Transportation crew was sent to make repairs before the road was re-opened about 2:30 p.m.

About 4:30 p.m., traffic on a stretch of U.S. 421 between Bedford, Kentucky, and County Road 316 was shut down for a few hours after a tractor trailer hauling a chemical material tipped over.

Bedford resident Sarah Tuttle was driving a couple of cars behind the truck with her daughter when she saw it drop a tire off the road, try to correct, and then fall on its side into the culvert. When she and a few other drivers stopped to check on the man inside, oil was pouring out of the front of the truck and smoke appeared to be rolling off the brakes, Tuttle said. The driver appeared to be OK, she said.

"I asked him several times; he said he was fine. I think he was just shook up," Tuttle said.

Tuttle and her daughter were there for about 10 minutes, long enough to call 911 and wait for Trimble County EMS, Bedford Volunteer Fire and Rescue and other first responders to arrive. She said not a lot of people were on the road until school traffic came through, and then they were routed through the scene.

First responders worked for about four hours to clean up the scene and get the truck upright.

"Thank you for your patience. Dealing with an extremely dangerous chemical requires time and specialty," Trimble County EMS posted on its Facebook page around 8 p.m.

County hears 2nd Amendment sanctuary request, public concerns

By MAGGIE HILLERY
Courier staff writer

It was standing-room-only out the door of the Jefferson County Commission office Thursday night as a request was put before the commission meeting for county action toward a Second Amendment sanctuary.

Social media postings earlier in the week indicated that supporters of the proposed ordinance intended to present the request to the commissioners and that people who were opposed intended to attend to express their opposition. Security for the meeting was higher than normal at the courthouse with a half-dozen Jefferson County Sherriff's deputies at the front entrance and in the hallway throughout most of the meeting. In addition, those attending were routed through the courthouse screening devices as they entered.

Clay Folkner, who has headed a local drive to obtain signatures on petitions in support of the effort, gave to the commissioners during the public part of the meeting a document with the heading "ORDINANCE NO. 2020 — AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING JEFFERSON COUNTY, INDIANA AS A SECOND AMENDMENT SANCTUARY COUNTY (SASO)."

The language of the proposal read in part, "The right to keep and bear arms is a fundamental individual right that shall not be infringed; and all local, State, and Federal acts, laws, orders, rules or regulations regarding firearms, firearms accessories, and ammunition enacted or promulgated that violate that fundamental individual right are violative of the Second Amendment of the Constitution of the United States and/or Article I, Section 32 of the Indiana Constitution."

The ending of the proposed ordinance read, "This ordinance is declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the peace, health, safety and general welfare of the people of this municipality, and shall take effect immediately upon passage."

As Folkner presented the document to the commission, he noted that he had obtained more than 1,700 signatures in support of having the sanctuary ordinance. He also told the commissioners he was presenting a "recommended language to get signed," and that he realized the commission might make changes but he was putting his trust in the commission to make the right decisions.

Commission President David Bramer told Folkner the commission would need time to look over the documents and then opened the meeting for public comment, which brought about 30 minutes of passionate comments and discussion, both in support and opposition to the proposal.

The conversation was frequently punctuated with disagreement on the facts of the situation and speakers made their points with conviction in their voices. Most speakers introduced themselves as residents of Madison or the county and many noted how long they have lived in the area.

The comments addressed many different points and feelings, always seeming to come back to whether the rights granted in the Second Amendment are being threatened.

"This is a grassroots effort," said Jesse Stillwell, saying there "already have been bills introduced in Indiana that have an affect on the Second Amendment."

Warren Auxier urged the commission to "be cautious " to make sure anything put in place is legal and doesn't confuse the public or "make our law enforcement job more difficult." He also urged commissioners to make sure they have the authority to make the kind of decision "some people are looking for you to make."

"We are defending our rights," said Gilbert Black.

Sandy Palmer said she did not feel her "Second Amendment right is in danger."

When no more speakers stepped forward, Bramer again said he and the other commissioners would discuss what had been asked of them and the public conversation they had just heard and respond as soon as possible.

Madison board previews athletic work, honors ex-coach

By COLLIN OVERTON
Courier staff writer

The Madison Consoliodated Schools Board of Trustees gave the public a sneak peek of a major facelift of the district's athletic complex Wednesday night at a regular meeting.

On top of announcing the district would be leaving the Hoosier Hills Conference it had been a part of since 1972, Superintendent Jeff Studebaker laid out plans for a renovated football field, track and surrounding area and postulated how they might be used differently than in the past. Immediate changes will include a new artificial field on top of a concussion pad and an updated eight-lane mondo track that the district expects to be finished by Aug. 1.

The field and track combined will cost the district $1.3 million and demolition should begin in April, Studebaker said.

"We are at a crossroads, quite frankly put. If we don't do something to help these various programs — we need to be able to show that we're investing in programs — and it's time. That football field is one of the very first things that people see when they come to Madison, and it is currently an embarrassment," he said.

But outside the immediate scope of the project are plans for a new scoreboard with an updated sound and timing system and a building between the football and baseball fields that will house new locker rooms, a training facility,

Amish Acres sells for $4.425M, plan to re-open attraction

NAPPANEE, Indiana — The widely anticipated auction of Amish Acres drew a standing-room-only crowd and resulted in the sale of the attraction for a total of $4.425 million, with Schrader Real Estate and Auction Company marketing the property and conducting the auction.

After an extended bidding competition, the property went to six different buyers, with much of the attention focused on the Round Barn Theatre, restaurant and related properties.

Those properties went to John Kruse, former 3rd District Congressman Marlin Stutzman, and Jason Bontrager, who said they intend to continue operating those facilities as an attraction.

"Legacy Theatre Company, owned by my wife, Christy, and her sister, Wendy Rivera, and Wendy's husband Gabe, will operate the Round Barn Theatre. We hope to re-open in the spring with new theater productions and family fun for all," said Stutzman.

Kruse added, "We are excited to build off the legacy of Amish Acres, and we believe we can make this a spectacular venue for decades into the future."

The previous owners had closed Amish Acres after the New Year's Eve celebration to prepare for the auction.

Roger Diehm, who managed the auction for Schrader, said sellers and buyers alike were pleased with the outcome. "It's great news for Nappanee and the entire area, and I'm excited to see what the future will bring under the new ownership," he said.

R.D. Schrader, president of the auction company, said the event capped off an intensive marketing campaign. "Seller Richard Pletcher worked closely with us from start to finish, and we're glad we got a result that will benefit everybody," he said.

Schrader Real Estate and Auction Company, based in Columbia City, Indiana, is a leading auctioneer throughout the United States and is a five-time USA Today/National Auctioneers Association Auction of the Year winner. For more information, go to www.schraderauction.com or call 800-451-2709.

Bridge indefinitely closed after truck strikes frame

Indiana

EVANSVILLE — An 80-year-old bridge is now closed indefinitely after inspectors found that it sustained major damage when a truck carrying an oversize load struck it last month. The Indiana Department of Transportation said Tuesday that the southbound U.S. 41 truss bridge spanning Pigeon Creek was extensively damaged in the Jan. 21 incident. INDOT engineers decided to close the bridge the same day, pending a more extensive review. Inspectors who then used a climbing team, drones and other specialized equipment to examine the bridge found major damage to nearly all of its vertical components and weight-bearing connections, The Evansville Courier & Press reported. INDOT said the bridge is now closed indefinitely, and "early estimates from the bridge engineering team indicate it could take more than a year to repair the bridge." The agency has enlisted the services of a consultant to review the reports and determine the next steps. State Police Sgt. Todd Ringle said the bridge was damaged when a truck carrying a large electric motor struck its frame after an escort driver in another vehicle tried unsuccessfully to warn the truck driver that his vehicle wouldn't fit under the bridge. The truck driver was ticketed for an expired registration and for breaking the terms of the vehicle's over-sized permit. INDOT spokesman Jason Tiller said the agency intends to "pursue financial responsibility from the parties involved."

Man pleads guilty to abusing disabled man

EVANSVILLE — A man has pleaded guilty to charges that he put an elderly disabled man in a headlock and otherwise abused him while working as his caregiver in 2017. William Putty, 27, pleaded guilty Monday to 11 felony counts of battery to a disabled person causing bodily injury without reaching a plea agreement with prosecutors. The Newburgh man's sentencing is scheduled for April 3. Putty was hired to care for the man, who required around-the-clock care, five days a week. The man's guardian told police he had autism, cerebral palsy, hydrocephalus and was seizure-prone, the Evansville Courier & Press reported. Putty was fired after the guardian saw video from cameras installed in the man's residence that allegedly showed Putty placing the man in a headlock and bending his fingers back to the point of pain. That alleged abuse occurred in August and September of 2017. Putty was charged in January 2018.

3 arrested in connection with slaying, kidnapping

KOKOMO — Three men have been arrested in connection with a woman's killing and the alleged kidnapping of a man discovered bound in a bathtub, police said Thursday. Two of the men, ages 30 and 31, face preliminary charges of criminal confinement and battery, while a 28-year-old man faces preliminary charges of suspicion of aiding, inducing or causing criminal confinement. The three Kokomo men, who have not been formally charged, were each being held Thursday on $500,000 cash bonds at the Howard County Jail. They were arrested amid a Kokomo police investigation into Monday's slaying of Lashay R. Young-Beard, 25, and a man's alleged kidnapping in the city. Capt. Tonda Cockrell of the Kokomo Police Department said the three men could face additional charges and police were investigating whether others may have been involved. The preliminary charges the trio face relate more to the alleged kidnapping than Young-Beard's death, she told the Kokomo Tribune. Young-Beard's body was found Monday night in a the backyard of a home by officers who were investigating reported gunshots. Police said Young-Beard had suffered an apparent gunshot wound. Inside that home, police found a 24-year-old man bound and gagged with duct tape in a bathtub. Police said in a news release the man told officers he had been a captive for 11 days and that "individuals known to him and Young-Beard had confined, battered and burned him with hot water at that residence over a period of days." The man was in stable condition after being treated by medics.

STATE BRIEFS

Officer will not face charges in shooting

LAFAYETTE — An officer will not face charges in the fatal shooting of a 39-year-old man who authorities say refused to drop a gun during a standoff with police. Prosecutors on Thursday said the use of deadly force by Lafayette Officer Nathan Stoneking was justified, according to the Journal & Courier. Officers responded Jan. 20 to a 911 call about a man carrying a gun along a street near a Lafayette high school. Police have said Dustin Furr refused to put the handgun down and pointed the weapon at one officer when he was shot by Stoneking.

Man sentenced in death of 18-month-old

OSSIAN — A man is heading to prison in the death of his girlfriend's 18-month-old daughter. Brent Scheiber, 27, was sentenced Thursday to 35 years. He pleaded guilty in December to aggravated battery. Kamryn Price suffered bruising to her forehead and bleeding on the brain in January 2019 at a home in Ossian, about 110 miles northeast of Indianapolis. She died a few days later at a hospital. Scheiber told investigators he was caring for the child while his girlfriend was working and that the toddler must have fallen from a crib. A probable cause affidavit said the injuries were not consistent with a fall. An autopsy showed they would have been caused by a blow to the head from a fist or similarly sized object with extreme force.

State awards grants to clean up illegal dumps

FRANKFORT — Officials have awarded nearly $1 million to counties across the state to help clean up illegal dumps. The grants from the state Energy and Environment Cabinet will go to 21 counties to help clean 121 sites, WFPL reported. Owsley County will receive $32,000 and Solid Waste Coordinator Cody Lewis said the funds would be a "tremendous help." "I don't think we would be able to afford to clean up these dumps if we didn't have the extra money," Lewis said. Counties have to provide a 25 percent match to receive the grants, which are funded through an environmental fee on garbage dropped at municipal landfills. Other counties receiving grants are Breathitt, Butler, Calloway, Estill, Green, Hart, Henderson, Johnson, Lawrence, Lee, Leslie, Lincoln, Logan, Magoffin, Marion, Mercer, Metcalfe, Pike, Warren and Wolfe.

Reviewed rules on items brought into statehouse

FRANKFORT — Rules used to decide what people can and cannot bring into the Capitol are being evaluated, Gov. Andy Beshear said Thursday. But the Democratic governor said any changes by his administration won't restrict the ability to bring guns into the statehouse, the Lexington Herald-Leader reported. "We believe that the rules right now, if followed, are appropriate, at least as it comes to firearms, which are constitutionally protected," Beshear said. "We need to take a look back at some other rules that have been put into place, whether they're about umbrellas or other issues." Umbrellas are not allowed in the Capitol under current rules, but anyone can openly carry a gun so long as they legally possess the firearm, except in the Supreme Court chambers, the House and Senate chambers and the House and Senate gallery. Those rules have come under scrutiny after gun-rights activists wearing camouflage walked around the Capitol carrying guns one day last week. One photo showed a group of men lifting their guns above their heads and another showed men carrying guns while wearing ski masks over their faces. Beshear said security rules prohibit wearing masks inside the Capitol and require handguns to be holstered and rifles to be hanging.

Officials make initiative for more teachers

LOUISVILLE — The state's largest school system has teamed up with the University of Louisville to start a teacher residency program, officials said. The program, aimed at combating teacher shortages, would allow people who received a degree in a field other than education to get a master's degree from U of L while shadowing an experienced teacher at Jefferson County Public Schools, the Courier Journal reported. In exchange, participants would commit to teaching in one of the district's lowest-performing schools for five years. The accelerated one-year initiative would be the first of its kind in Kentucky, officials said. The residency will be "transformational" in efforts to attract people to the education field, JCPS Superintendent Marty Pollio said. "JCPS is investing in them," U of L Provost Beth Boehm said. "We're investing in them and we know we will get a return on our investment." An initial 30-person cohort is expected to begin courses in June and then be in classrooms with a master teacher in August. Requirements to apply include a bachelor's degree with at least a 2.75 GPA.

3 ex-officers avoid prison in sentence

LOUISVILLE — Three former police officers have avoided prison time for falsifying overtime records to collect pay for hours they didn't work. Former Louisville Metro police officers Brian Stanfield, Todd Roadhouse and Mark Final were sentenced Thursday to three years probation, news outlets reported. Each will also have to spend eight months of the sentence on a curfew. Stanfield and Roadhouse were ordered to a 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew, but the curfew for Final would be set at a later date since his attorney said that his current job may require him to work overnight. Authorities said the three submitted overtime requests for hours they did not work between 2014 and 2017. Prosecutors said the men covered up the overtime pay by altering arrest records. The former officers were ordered to pay back about $170,000 total in restitution after pleading guilty to federal wire fraud charges.

Man grabbed woman in possible hate crime

LEXINGTON — Police are searching for a white man who they say briefly grabbed an African American store employee around the neck in what is being investigated as a possible hate crime. The woman was working at a Lexington Walmart as a third-party vendor and told police that the man approached her table after she asked him a question, Lexington Police said in a statement. The employee said the man made motions with his hands, which he said was for making a noose. The man then leaned forward and briefly placed his hands around the woman's neck, police said. Police said Wednesday that they identified the man after releasing video of the Jan. 29 incident and were continuing to investigate. They did not release his ID publicly.

Proposed sanctuary ordinance

Members of public ask county commission to act

Editor's note: This is the the proposed ordinance as it was presented to county commissioners Thursday night.

ORDINANCE NO. 2020

AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING JEFFERSON COUNTY, INDIANA AS A SECOND AMENDMENT SANCTUARY COUNTY (SASO).

WHEREAS, acting through the Constitution of the United States, the people created government to be their agent in the exercise of a few defined powers, while reserving to the citizens the right to decide on matters which concern their lives, liberty, and property in the ordinary course of affairs;

WHEREAS, The Second Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, a provision of the Bill of Rights drafted and introduced into the first Congress after the ratification of the Constitution by James Madison, states, "A well regulated Militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the People to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed;

WHEREAS, the right of the people to keep and bear arms is further protected from infringement by State and Local Governments under the Ninth and Tenth Amendments, and the "due process" and "privileges and immunities" clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States;

WHEREAS, Section 1 of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States reads, "No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws;"

WHEREAS, Indiana's Bill of Rights, set forth as Section 32 of the Indiana Constitution declares that "The people shall have a right to bear arms, for the defense of themselves and the State;"

WHEREAS, Article 15, Section 4 declares that "Every person elected or appointed to any office under this Constitution, shall, before entering on the duties thereof, take an oath or affirmation, to support the Constitution of this State, and of the United States, and also an oath of office;

WHEREAS, the United State Supreme Court in Marbury v. Madison, 5 US 137, 177. (1803) stated: "Certainly all those who have framed written constitutions contemplate them as forming the fundamental and paramount law of the nation, and, consequently, the theory of every such government must be, that an act of the legislature, repugnant to the constitution, is void;

WHEREAS, the United State Supreme Court in Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436, 491 (1966) the Supreme Court stated that "Where rights secured by the Constitution are involved, there can be no rule making or legislation which would abrogate them;

WHEREAS, in 2008 the United States Supreme Court in District of Columbia v. Heller, 554 U.S. 570, 592, 171 L.Ed 2d 637, 128 S.Ct. 2783, declared "we find that they guarantee the individual right to possess and carry weapons in case of confrontation. This meaning is strongly confirmed by the historical background of the Second Amendment." More importantly, Heller did not limit the right to bear arms. It specifically stated, "Second Amendment implicitly recognizes the pre-existence of the right and declares only that it 'shall not be infringed."' The Court reiterated, "Our opinion is, that any law, State or Federal, is repugnant to the Constitution, and void, which contravenes this right, originally belonging to our forefathers." and

WHEREAS, in 2010 the United States Supreme Court in McDonald v. Chicago, 561 U.S. 742, declared "We therefore hold that the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment incorporates the Second Amendment right recognized in Heller."

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of Commissioners of Jefferson County, Indiana, as follows: The right to keep and bear arms is a fundamental individual right that shall not be infringed; and all local, State, and Federal acts, laws, orders, rules or regulations regarding firearms, firearms accessories, and ammunition enacted or promulgated that violate that fundamental individual right are violative of the Second Amendment of the Constitution of the United States and/or Article I, Section 32 of the Indiana Constitution.

The individual right to keep and bear arms, being a fundamental individual right that predates the United States Constitution and Indiana Constitution, and being a constitutionally protected right in every part of Indiana encompasses the right of ownership, possession, purchase, other acquisition, transport, storage, carrying, sale, other transfer, manufacture, keeping, shooting and maintaining proficiency. We also find and declare that it is proper for law-abiding people to protect themselves, their families, and others from intruders and attackers without fear of prosecution or civil action for acting in defense of themselves or others. Except as specifically provided by the United States Constitution, Indiana Constitution, a person, without further license, permission, restriction, delay, or process, including by any ordinance, rule, regulation, resolution, practice, or other action or any threat of citation, prosecution, or other legal process, may own, possess, purchase, acquire, transport, store, carry, sell, transfer, manufacture, or keep any firearm, part of a firearm, its components, its ammunition, including the right to shoot and maintain proficiency. Any such license, permission, restriction, delay, or process that interferes with the fundamental individual right and any unduly act that inhibits law-abiding people from protecting themselves, their families, and others from intruders and attackers and from other legitimate uses of constitutionally protected rights, including hunting and sporting activities, declares that any interference with such stated rights would be a violation of such Oath of Office, making such attempt null and void, and a breach of such Oath.

Any employee, including agents, contractors, appointees or otherwise, within the jurisdiction of Jefferson County Indiana, who violates this ordinance shall be sanctioned 10% of their yearly income and neither sovereign nor official or qualified immunity shall be an affirmative defense.

The provisions of this act are hereby declared to be severable, and if any provision of this act or the application of such provision to any person or circumstance is declared invalid for any reason, such declaration shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act.

This ordinance is declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the peace, health, safety and general welfare of the people of this municipality, and shall take effect immediately upon passage.

ADOPTED by the Jefferson County Board of Commissioners, Jefferson County, Indiana, This _____ day of _____, 2020.

Sanctuary proposals, statements around the area

Courier staff report

Support for Second Amendment Sanctuary counties has been a topic of much conversation in the Courierarea since Jennings County Sheriff Kenny Freeman and other local and state officials in mid-January signed a resolution in support of a Second Amendment Sanctuary county.

At the time, Freeman said, "We are here to support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of Indiana. We are doing this for the people." But, he said in response to a question, "Yes, this is absolutely symbolic."

A few days later, Trimble County, Kentucky, joined the list of local governments approving resolutions to become "Second Amendment sanctuaries."

Judge Executive Todd Pollock introduced the resolution at a Fiscal Court meeting and said it's similar to what Harlan County, Kentucky, had approved in December.

"In all truth, this is very symbolic. It doesn't have any teeth. We can't enforce things that the state or feds don't give us permission to do," Pollock said. "However, if each county is doing these resolutions — and there's a lot of them doing it — it's going to send the legislators in Frankfort and in Washington D.C. a very strong message that we don't want our Second Amendment rights infringed on."

Also in late January, Scott County, Indiana, Sheriff Jerry Goodin posted to the department Facebook page that he had " issued a proclamation today confirming his support for the Constitution of the United States of America and Amendments and the Constitution of the State Of Indiana and Amendments." He wrote that he issued the proclamation "to show his belief and strict adherence to the documents we live by. He had the Proclamation stamped by the Clerk of the Courts in Scott County and Notarized to make it an official document in the State of Indiana."

On the last day of January, Switzerland County Sheriff Brian Morton posted to the department Facebook page that "As Sheriff of Switzerland County I, Brian L. Morton, took the oath of office to uphold the Constitution of the United States and the State of Indiana.

"In our great republic and county, all of our individual constitutional rights shall be honored and protected. I proudly support our Constitution and our 2nd Amendment rights, as they are the foundation for this great nation."

Also on Jan. 31, Sheriff Dave Thomas of Jefferson County posted to that department's Facebook page:

"To the citizens of Jefferson County, Indiana;

"Thank you for sharing your interest in defending the Second Amendment of the United States Constitution and "I understand there is a great deal of interest in protecting our rights under the Second Amendment and that public officials are frequently asked to commit or take positions on political or policy matters.

"I first took the oath, defending the Constitution of the United States and the laws of the State of Indiana in 1979, as an Indiana State Trooper.

"In November of 2018, I was constitutional elected as your Sheriff and that is a very proud moment in my life.

"As every Sheriff, being elected included the taking of the very serious oath to defend the Constitution of the United States and the laws of the State of Indiana. 'I did not take either of these oaths lightly or with any less than full respect and intent to honor them.

"I have stated a number of times I support the Constitution and all of its amendments. I strive to do that every day along with all members of the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office."

No suspected coronavirus cases in Indiana, says state Department of Health

STAFF REPORTS
(La Porte) Herald-Argus

INDIANAPOLIS — After a potential novel coronavirus patient in Porter County tested negative, there are currently no suspected cases in Indiana.

However, the Indiana State Department of Health is continuing efforts to educate Hoosiers about the virus that originated in China. The goal to ensure that the public, healthcare providers and local health departments have the latest information to keep themselves and their communities healthy, according to State Health Commissioner Dr. Kris Box.

"There continues to be no confirmed cases of 2019 novel coronavirus in Indiana at this time," Gov. Eric Holcomb said Wednesday.

"At my direction, the Indiana State Department of Health is working in close coordination with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, as well as other federal, state and local partners, to share information and monitor this evolving public health situation. While there is no need for immediate concern, the state will remain on alert to ensure Hoosiers are protected."

While there are no suspected cases under investigation in Indiana, one resident who recently traveled to China is on self-quarantine in accordance with CDC guidelines, Box said.

That individual is not symptomatic, and all appropriate measures are being taken, she said. The ISDH would not provide additional information, citing privacy laws.

The person suspected of having the virus in Porter County was placed in isolation at an area hospital until blood tests conducted by the CDC confirmed they did not have the illness.

Box said information about the novel coronavirus outbreak is "changing rapidly" and encouraged Hoosiers to check the ISDH website for the most current information.

"We learn something new every day about this illness," she said.

"While the news reports are concerning, I want to reassure Hoosiers that the majority of the patients under investigation in the U.S. so far have tested negative for novel coronavirus, and remind them that seasonal influenza poses a greater health risk at this time."

According to the CDC, as of Wednesday, a total of 293 people in 36 states and territories have been tested for the virus. Of those, 11 tested positive and 206 negative, while results were pending for 76 people.

Positive tests were reported in Illinois, California, Arizona and Massachusetts. Confirmed cases have also been reported in 27 other countries, including Canada.

Influenza activity, however, is reported as "high" and "geographically widespread" in Indiana, according to the ISDH.

So far this flu season, which started in October 2019, there have been 45 influenza-related deaths in Indiana as of Jan. 25. Last week, outbreaks were reported at nine long-term health facilities and four school districts.

Michigan City Area Schools used two eLearning Days last week after absences among students and staff reached a high level, and cleaning and sanitizing of buildings was conducted.

St. Stanislaus Catholic School was closing for two days this week for the same reason.

Armed robbery led to two arrests Thursday night

Courier staff report

Indiana State Police arrested an Indianapolis man and woman late Thursday night in connection with an armed robbery at a US Bank location in Dearborn County earlier that afternoon.

Investigators with the Indiana State Police and Greendale Police Department arrested Edward L. Collier, 44, and Rheonia L. Jackson, 24, charging both with robbery while armed with a deadly weapon, a Level 3 felony.

The arrests were made following an investigation into the armed robbery of a US Bank branch at 317 Ridge Ave. in Greendale, which is along the Ohio River Scenic Byway between the cities of Greendale and Lawrenceburg, that took place shortly after 1 p.m. Thursday.

During the holdup, a suspect entered the bank, displayed a handgun and demanded money from the bank teller.

The teller complied with the suspect, who then left the bank with an unknown amount of cash.

The suspect was described as a black male wearing a hat, glasses, fake beard, gloves and a coat depicting playing cards. Investigators also learned that the suspect possibly left the area in an orange-colored Dodge Charger with a sunroof and rear spoiler and information gathered during the investigation indicated that the suspect might be traveling to the Indianapolis area.

Shortly after 4 p.m. Thursday, a trooper with the Indiana State Police-Indianapolis Post observed a vehicle matching the description of the orange Dodge traveling westbound on Interstate 74 approaching Indianapolis.

Troopers conducted a traffic stop on the vehicle and detained two occupants who at the time were only considered persons of interest in the robbery.

After being interviewed by police, the man and woman were both charged with robbery, returned to Lawrenceburg and lodged in the Dearborn County Jail early Friday morning.

According to Sgt. Stephen Wheeles, public information officer for ISP's Versailles post, additional information could be forthcoming and additional charges are possible.

Anyone with any additional information about the bank robbery or the suspects is asked to call the Indiana State Police-Versailles Post at 812-689-5000 or the Greendale Police Department at 812-537-1321.

Madison School Board votes 5-0 to leave HH Conference

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Courier Sports Writer
Twitter @CampbellSports

In 1972, Madison High School was the driving force behind the creation of the Hoosier Hills Conference, bringing together like-minded schools of similar size to create arguably the best league in southern Indiana.

But times changed. Over the next 40 years, Madison found itself falling further and further behind as the other schools continued to grow and leaving its founder behind and forcing the school to take a deep look at where it stood in the conference.

On Wednesday, the Madison Consolidated School Board of Trustees made the decision to formally withdraw from the HHC, voting 5-0 in front of a packed house. It was a decision 15 years in the making and the announcement brought cheers from some, groans from others and silent resignation from the rest.

"I'm not against it all. Change is always difficult," said baseball coach Tim Armstrong, who has been affiliated with the school since the mid-1980s. "We were a founding member of the conference and that's what will make it tough for some people. But as the statistics show in terms of enrollment and conference championships, it is difficult to compete."

Madison had spent 15 years as an independent when it put together the HHC in 1972. That year Madison was joined by Bedford, Columbus East, Floyd Central and Jennings County as the charter members of the new league.

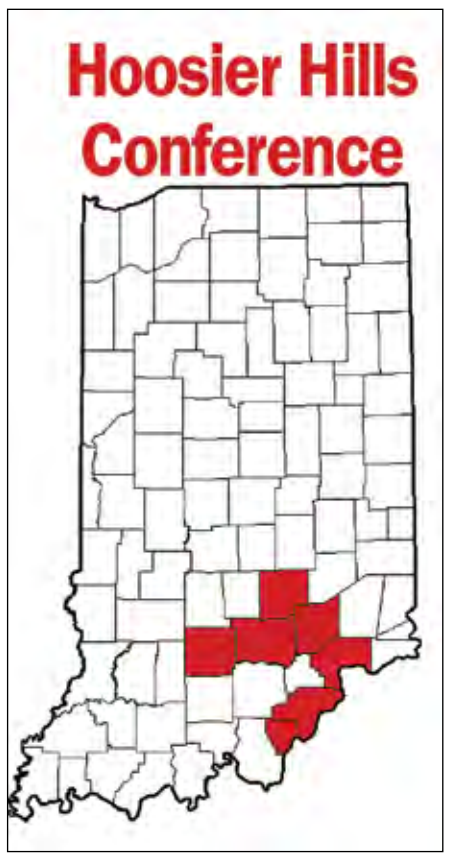
Madison was ideally suited to compete with its new mates. East and Floyd had just recently opened their doors, Jennings was a brand-new consolidated school and Bedford was two years away from bringing in the northern part of its county and forming Bedford North Lawrence.

Over the next seven years Bloomington North, Jeffersonville and New Albany would join the conference with North then leaving in 1983. In 1997, Seymour was added to bring together the current eight-school alignment.

Madison won the conference championship in both boys basketball and football that inaugural season, but the Cubs quickly fell behind as the other schools grew by leaps and bounds. By the late 1980s Madison was the smallest school in the conference. By the 2000s, the school had nearly 1,000 fewer students than five of the seven others and 400 fewer than the next smallest school.

The result was an athletic program that quickly fell to the bottom of the league. Other than boys and girls golf, no Madison program has won a conference title in the past 12 years.

It was that landscape that athletic director Joe Bronkella inherited when he was hired three years ago from Columbus. Tasked with finding a solution, Bronkella and other school officials became convinced that leaving the conference was the only answer.



"I know that they talked about it years ago and they worked on it years ago, and even when I went to HHC meetings, they talked about how Madison was looking at the competition level," Bronkella said. "I think there had been some discussions with other conferences and I don't know the specifics from that, but I know it progressed from that. There are tons of pluses and tons of minuses about the move. But we felt like it was the best."

No sport has been hurt more by the conference alignment than football. In 1989, when Madison last won an HHC title in football, four of the seven conference schools played in Class 4A. This past season, only Madison and Jennings County were playing in that class. And at nearly every game, Madison faced an opponent with twice as many players on its roster.

Throw in the fact that seven of the nine regular season games are against HHC teams and that can make for a long football season. In 60 years of playing varsity football, Madison has had only eight winning seasons.

"There is no way to sugarcoat it, but for us, yes, (leaving the conference is the best thing for the program)," football coach LeRoy Wilson said. "When you're 400-plus kids short of the next smallest school, you are at a disadvantage. That's not to say that we can't compete in that league, but I think we will see a benefit from the football side of things. Being one of the sports that has to play everybody in the conference, it will make a big difference."

The reaction on Twitter from former Madison athletes upon hearing the news was largely mixed.

"Lol this is a joke smh at those who don't wanna compete with the best," said former basketball and football player Nick Macon.

"Disappointed. Playing up to competition even if we got our butts kicked always was a chance to get better," said former basketball player Scott King.

Still, the move did have its supporters.

"It's about time ... one of the only schools in the conference that isn't growing," said Trey Thurston, who played both football and baseball. "I loved the competition of being in a conference that was significantly bigger, but it led to injuries or the fear of injuries."

"This one hurts to tweet! But my boys down south have waived the white flag ... and it's probably time as football has struggled," said former baseball and basketball player Bradley Smith.

According to Bronkella, the 2020-21 season will be Madison's last as a member of the HHC. The school will then go independent, free to play anybody it chooses and can schedule.

Bronkella said that virtually nobody involved with the athletic program is in favor of staying independent for long and the hope is that either a spot will open up in an existing conference, such as the Mid-Southern to the west or the Eastern Indiana Athletic to the east, or other schools will join Madison in the creation of a new conference.

"We are hoping that this is the first domino to fall," Madison Superintendent Jeff Studebaker said. "We've waited around for other conferences to do things and we've had talks. This is our way of forcing the issue. Hopefully something will open up that is a better fit for us."

upgraded restrooms, upgraded concession stands, a new ticket booth and a second floor that would provide conference space and stadium seating for both the baseball and football fields. The Courier was unable to attain the estimated cost of the project by print time, but Studebaker said it would likely be covered by a mix of private dollars and this year's construction bonds.

A preexisting LED light project funded in 2019 would cover lights at the new complex, he said.

The goal is a more versatitle facility that would also give the soccer and cross country teams a new field and practice space. Studebaker didn't rule out the possibility of Madison hosting its own marching band competitions or generating interest in the facility as a possible site for Indiana State School Musical Association (ISSMA) regional finals.

Board President Rob Kring said the new complex would be more versatile and give student athletes a better playing field.

"I've been to facilities that have this kind of turf on it, and it plays very quick," Kring said. "...It takes a facility that is just, like Dr. Studebaker said, for football and track and turns it into a multi-sport facility, so I'm excited. I can't wait to get going."

In addition to the upgrades,the red storage barn on the north side of the complex will be torn down and equipment will be moved to a new structure underneath the home side bleachers. Shot put circles will be built in the barn's place. Studebaker said they were unsure where field events would take place at the moment, but the discus cage would likely need to be moved or upgraded to prevent throws from sailing into the nearby roads.

The school board also elected to rename the junior high baseball diamond Mike Modisett Field after the former baseball coach, 1971 Madison graduate and longtime groundskeeper. Varsity baseball head coach and student resources officer Tim Armstrong announced the name change and spoke on Modisett's work ethic, crediting him for his work on the fields that allowed Madison to host the Indiana High School Baseball Coaches Association North-South All Star Game in July of last year.

"Coach Mod puts in countless hours on all the facilities, but he's always taken a little bit of extra pride in the junior high. In fact, I remember times when we'd finished practice and I'd look around, look for Coach Mod and he wasn't anywhere to be found — come to find out he's at the junior high dragging the field," Armstrong said.

Modisett started coaching and teaching social studies at Madison in 1987, where he remained until his retimement in 2013.

In his tenure, he was varsity assistant coach to hall of fame coach Gary O'Neal for 13 years, took over as head coach for a year in 2000 when O'Neal briefly retired, then went back to assistant coaching for O'Neal for a couple years until Armstrong became head coach in 2003, Armstrong said. He helped with groundswork during his coaching career and continues to work on the fields after his retirement.

"Whenever I work on these fields...one, I want the other teams to come and say 'man, this is how it should be done.' And I want our kids to take pride in it, and hopefully it gives them an edge — a run or two somewhere... I thank you," Modisett said Wednesday night.

Modisett said he had no idea he would be honored prior to the meeting. He was only told to go and answer some questions about the fields, he said.

"It was out of the blue, totally," he said.

Also at the meeting, Director of Facilities and Special Projects Kevin Yancey gave an update on the LED lighting project that is expected to greatly reduce Madison's energy costs.

He said lighting was recently completed at Anderson Elementary, the junior and senior high, and will soon be started at the new high school auditorium that should be completed by May 1.

The overall lighting project is expected to wrap up this month, he said.

Shelby Wilcoxson became the ninth member of the Trimble County Girls Basketball 1,000-Point Club with 20 points in the Raiders' 64-39 win at St. Francis on Wednesday.

Wilcoxson, who is just a junior, is the third Lady Raider to accomplish the feat in the past four seasons. Kaylee Clifford and Shelbe Black each scored their 1,000th point in the same game in 2016.

Wilcoxson entered the game just 10 points away from the milestone and reached that mark with 2:19 left in the first half on a jumper from the right side.

Wilcoxson finished with 20 points as Trimble won for the fourth-straight game. Her career total now stands at 1,010 and she joins her mother, Jessica (Peniston) Wilcoxson on the school's all-time scoring list. Jessica Wilcoxson, who is now Trimble's superintendent, is fifth overall with 1,255 career points.

Trimble County, now 10-11 on the season, was to host North Oldham Friday in its final 29th District game of the season. The Raiders then head to Gallatin County on Monday.

Stuart scores 1,000 but Hilltoppers fall

By DAVID CAMPBELL

Ethan Stuart got his milestone bucket just minutes into Thursday's game but the Shawe senior was unable to get the true prize that he craved as the Hilltoppers dropped a 63-44 decision to Christian Academy of Indiana at home.

Stuart, a 6-foot-3 senior, came into the game just one point shy of 1,000 for his career and picked up that point in those most apropos way, rebounding a miss and putting it into the net while getting fouled 2:30 into the game.

Stuart's three-point play pushed Shawe ahead 7-6 and the Hilltoppers led 17-16 early in the fourth quarter, but a 15-2 second quarter run gave Christian Academy some breathing room and the Warriors pulled away for the win.

Just the eighth Hilltopper in the 66-year history of the school to reach the milestone, Stuart, was pleased to add his name to the big board, but made it clear that he would rather have had the win.

"I was excited when it happened but I really just wanted to win that game," Stuart said. "I thought that would be the best way for it to go off."

Stuart did his part to pull the Hilltoppers to victory, scoring a team-high 14 points. But it was not nearly enough against the Warriors' dynamic duo of Bailey Conrad and T.J. Procter, who combined to outscore Shawe 48-44.

Conrad, a 6-foot-8 senior, matched up with Stuart on the inside, but also put the ball on the floor and hit a 3-pointer while scoring 27 points. Procter, a 5-foot-11 senior guard, sliced his way to 21 points.

The pair made life difficult for the Hilltoppers all night, especially Stuart who did his best to slow the Christian Academy big man down.

"He was good, really good," Stuart said. "And he was a

Foster Mefford set two career marks in less than three quarters on Thursday night but in the end South Ripley spoiled the celebration with a fourth-quarter surge as the Raiders defeated the Rebels 67-61 in Ohio River Valley Conference boys basketball at King Gymnasium.

Mefford and the Rebels controlled the majority of the game and led by as many as eight points in the second half before South Ripley responded late. The Raiders outscored Southwestern 21-11 in the fourth quarter en route to the victory and, in the process, eliminated the Rebels in the race for the ORVC title.

"We just complicated some things at the end," Southwestern head coach Jerry Bomholt said. "All-in-all I thought we controlled the game but all of a sudden we just went blank. I'll take the blame for that. We have to get this cured. We have to get to a point where we can come back from behind. If all five of our guys out on the floor had made one more play tonight, we would have won the game. I told them that in the locker room."

Hanover men move into fi st place tie

sports@madisoncourier.com

Hanover moved into a three-way tie for first place in the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference with a 74-53 win at Franklin in men's basketball on Wednesday.

The Panthers entered the night one game back of league-leader Franklin and jumped out to a big 48-29 lead at halftime. The Grizzlies rebounded to play even over the final 20 minutes but Hanover cruised to the win.

Kevin Williams scored 19 points to lead Hanover while Mark Albers had 12 and Connor Washburn 11, both off the bench. The Panthers shot an even 50% (31-for-62) from the floor and 11-of-13 from the free-throw line.

Payton Mills scored 16 points while Borden Kennedy and Jordan Anderson had 12 points each.

Hanover, now 15-5 overall, sits tied atop the HCAC standings with Franklin and Transylvania at 9-4 with five games to play. The Panthers travel to Earlham on Saturday and host Anderson next Wednesday.

Women squeak out win

Hanover's women won for the sixth-straight time, beating Franklin 70-64 at home on Wednesday.

The Panthers led 17-10 after the first quarter but found themselves trailing 29-28 at halftime. After regaining the lead in the third period, Hanover then held on for the close win.

Alexis Nall powered her way to a game-high 26 points on 10-of-16 shooting and six rebounds to lead Hanover. Madison's Katie Hartman had 15 points, six rebounds and four assists while Savannah Courtney had 12 points, five rebounds and three assists. Switzerland County's Brooke Todd had seven points, seven assists and six rebounds for the Panthers.

Britney Ballard had 18 points while Destinee Cross and Bayleigh Walker had 12 each for Franklin.

Hanover, now 13-6 overall and 12-1 in the HCAC, travels to Earlham on Saturday and heads to Anderson next Wednesday.

cool guy. He congratulated me before the game and told me that he knew I was going to get my points and just wanted to say congratulations. I thought that was really nice. He's a cool dude."

Even with Conrad and Procter, Shawe had its chances early. Grayson May scored seven points early as the Hilltoppers built that 17-16 lead and Henry Grote's slicing drive to the basket moments later pulled Shawe to within 20-19.

But Conrad answered with six points and Procter had five over the next two minutes to power the Warriors on an 11-0 run and Christian Academy led 33-23 at halftime. Shawe stayed close early in the third but missed opportunities killed the Hilltoppers' chances.

"You always talk about how the first two minutes of the first half and the first two minutes of the second half are so important and we saw that tonight," Shawe coach Dan Hambrick said. "We came out in the third and had four-straight defensive stops but couldn't do anything with them. If we had been able to score on the other end, who knows what happens."

Christian Academy (11-7) recovered from that slow start to take a 42-33 lead into the final quarter then pulled away in the fourth.

Along with Stuart, fellow senior Chandler Cole scored 11 points for Shawe. The Hilltoppers struggled to go just 12-of-23 from the free-throw line and committed 21 turnovers to just five for the Warriors.

The 14 points brings Stuart's career total to 1,013 and while the top spot is probably out of reach, he has his sights set on reaching the top five, for one very good reason.

"I gotta get up there and pass coach Kring. That's the plan," Stuart smiled, referring to assistant coach Michael Kring, who is fifth at 1,092. "That's the goal right now."

"It couldn't happen to a better young man. He's a class act, he works hard at practice, he's had great senior leadership," Hambrick said. "I'm honored to be the coach when he got it. Not too many people get that chance. I have a couple of girls that are still on the board (at Shawe) but they didn't reach 1,000. That's a landmark. I couldn't be happier for him."

final period. Five other Raiders aided points at crucial times in the fourth while Southwestern limped toward the end.

Mefford and Austin Kramer went scoreless in the fourth quarter as Mefford fouled out late. The Rebels fell behind by seven points and made a charge at regaining the lead on a 3-pointer by Billy Eccles and six points by Zach Cole but with a full-court press in effect, Southwestern was unable to string together stops and the Raiders put the game away inside the final minute.

"Even then when it was 66-59, we got five quick points to cut it to two almost immediately," Bomholt said. "We went full-court press and then we don't get in it, our top guy on it takes off and goes to the other end of the floor and our goalie allows a layup. We missed some shots and had to foul. We just have to get better play at the end of the game. We have to know what we got to do."

The ending certainly put a damper on the accomplishments of Mefford on the night but even then, the junior's milestones were properly celebrated while Southwestern sat out in front through three quarters.

Mefford took care of business early in the first quarter and a dish to Cole for a bucket with 3:44 left in the fourth quarter gave him his 500th career assist. The 6-foot-1 guard, already the school's career assist leader, had earlier in the third quarter hits his 1,000-point milestone to then become the only player in school history with 1,000 points and 500 assists.

Mefford blitzed Ripley for 16 points in the first half, putting him just one point away from 1,000 heading into the second half. With 3:32 to go in the third quarter, Mefford found daylight underneath and found his way to the bucket for a layup that put an exclamation mark on a memorable night. He finished leading all scorers with 21 points and now has 1,004 career points.

Although his first thoughts out of the locker room reflected frustration over the loss, Mefford later humbly took the opportunity to reflect on his place in program history.

"I've been playing for three years now and I've got the best teammates," Mefford said. "They put me in the best position I can be in along with my coaches, the kids, the community, everybody. It comes with a lot of hard work and I've just been blessed to play the game of basketball. A lot of early mornings and late nights, coaches coming in and rebounding for me and the fans just have supported me like none other. I just couldn't be more happy about it and being a part of this program."

"He'd be the first to tell you that the thing that meant the most to him tonight was winning or losing the game and he took it pretty hard in the locker room," Bomholt said of Mefford. "He's an unbelievable kid and he's going to finish his career with 500 rebounds, over 500 assists and around 1,500 points. I don't think anyone aside from Steve Collier comes close to those numbers. He's a great competitor."

Cole joined Mefford in double figures with 13 points while Kramer added 11 points.

South Ripley (11-6, 3-1 ORVC) shot a blistering 66 percent from the field and was led by Franklin, who was instrumental in the Raiders' second half efforts. The junior dazzled in the third quarter with 11 points en route to 20 points to go with a team-high nine rebounds. Zach Gentile added 12 points and eight assists while Samples and Jaden Peetz each scored 11 points.

Southwestern (12-7, 2-3 ORVC) hosts ORVC foe Rising Sun Friday, Feb. 14 and then entertains Class 2A No. 4 South Decatur on Saturday, Feb. 15.

Regatta inks Grand Prix for 2020

COURIER STAFF REPORT

LOUD AND PROUD: Ed Preston, driver of the GP-20 "The TRUSS Company" (foreground), overtakes Greg Hopp in the GP-15 "Miss SuperShine" to win the 2019 Madison Regatta's Grand Prix hydroplane championship final on the Ohio River. Madison Regatta and the Grand Prix America Hydroplane Racing Series have announced that the Grand Prix hydroplanes will be returning to the Ohio River for the 70th running of the Madison Regatta July 3-5.

This year marks the seventh year the piston-powered hydroplanes have been the premier piston-style powerboats racing at the largest city on the Ohio River between Cincinnati and Louisville.

Madison Regatta president, Matt True, made the announcement Wednesday at the organization's monthly membership meeting in Madison.

"Motorsports are huge in Indiana. We have the Indy 500, Brickyard 400, and the NHRA U.S. Nationals and the Gold Cup hydroplane trophy," True said. "Indiana is all about motorsports and we are excited to have the Grand Prix hydroplanes back this summer."

Fans line the banks of the Ohio River in Madison to watch hydroplanes each summer during the Independence Day weekend.

"It is an honor to be asked to participate in the Madison Regatta," Grand Prix America President Dean Rojas said. "Seventy years is a great tradition and the Ohio River race course can be a challenge for our drivers and teams, but that is part of the allure of racing in Madison."

Ed Preston, driver of the GP-20 "The TRUSS Company" and his crew led by crew chief, Earl Smith, spent 12 hours straight switching out their engine and making repairs to the hydroplane after suffering damage at the 2019 Madison Regatta. Preston eventually came from behind to win the race.

"You bet I will be there to defend our victory. We love coming to Madison, the fans, community support, Fourth of July fireworks and the parade, all create such a buzz in the riverfront city," Preston said, "The fans and community wait all year to hear the roar of our engine bouncing off the river valley walls, and so do we."

The Madison Regatta race will be the first race of the 2020 summer of racing for the Grand Prix America Hydroplane Series. If this year is anything like last, the first race can also be an indication of how the national championship will develop throughout the blossoming Grand Prix hydroplane season. Last year, Greg Hopp, driver of the GP-15 "Miss SuperShine," won the first race of the season in Guntersville, Alabama, and ended up winning the national championship at the end of the season.

Regatta officials anticipate having tickets available online in two weeks at MadisonRegatta.com.

Rojas confirmed the racing organization is in discussions for races in Kennewick, Washington and San Diego, as well as some potential new venues.

In addition to the Madison Regatta, races that have been on the schedule include, Seattle's Seafair Weekend, July 31-Aug. 2 and Owensboro, Kentucky's HydroFair, Aug. 14-16. Rojas said, in the coming weeks as the summer schedule is finalized, information will be posted to their Facebook page Grand Prix America Hydroplanes.

Seymour rallies to beat Cubs 55-53

sports@madisoncourier.com

Seymour rallied from eight down in the second half to beat Madison 55-53 and hand the Cubs their fifth-straight loss.

Madison trailed 15-8 after the first quarter but then erupted for 20 points in the second to take a 28-21 lead into halftime. The Cubs extended that lead to 36-28 midway through the third on a Luke Miller basket before Seymour began chipping away.

The Owls (6-10, 3-4 Hoosier Hills) cut the lead to five (43-38) by the end of the third and tied the game at 46-46 on a Eric McCoy 3-pointer with 3:11 to play. Another McCoy trey with 1:48 to go put Seymour ahead.

Madison stayed within a possession but could get over the hump. Two Nick Center free throws with 56 seconds left closed the gap to one and Center hit two more freebies 30 seconds later to once again cut the lead to three.

But McCoy hit four free throws over the final 22 seconds to eventually push Seymour's lead to five and Center's 3-pointer right before the buzzer accounted for the final margin.

McCoy scored 30 points on 9-of-12 overall shooting to lead all scorers. He was 6-of-8 on 3-point attempts and 6-for-8 from the free-throw line.

Center scored 16 points and had six assists to lead Madison while Miller scored 15 points and Kaden Oliver had nine.

Both teams shot at least 50 percent in the game. Madison was an even 18-for-36 while Seymour clicked in at 65 percent (20-of-31).

Madison slips to 10-7 overall and 1-4 in the HHC and has not won a game since beating Charlestown on Jan. 11. The Cubs will try to break their skid at home on Saturday against Batesville. Madison then travels to Lawrenceburg on Thursday.

Southwestern set two school records and local schools qualified for the finals in 11 events after a successful preliminary round of the IHSAA Girls Swimming Sectional at Floyd Central on Thursday.

Southwestern junior Belle Crawford had arguably the best night, getting one record and qualifying for the finals in three events. Crawford posted a new school-record time of 1:03.26 while finishing second in the 100-yard butterfly and was seventh in the 100 backstroke in 1:07.77. She then teamed with Amiah Owen, Julia Worcester and Audrey Bare to place sixth in the 200 medley relay in 2:11.76.

Worcester also set a school record while qualifying for the finals for Southwestern. The sophomore placed sixth in the 100 breaststroke in 1:15.38, breaking a six-year-old Southwestern mark.

"We are thrilled with the way the girls swam tonight. Seventy-five percent of our team will be swimming individual events Saturday," Southwestern coach Shelly Anderson said. "This is what we train for all year. We had crazy time drops tonight. Things went better than we imagined."

Madison's Emily Nay and all three relay teams also qualified for finals by placing in the top eight. Nay was seventh in the 100 butterfly in 1:08.49 and teamed with Lucy Lynch, Anne Grady and Trinity Stoner to swim fourth in the 200 medley relay in 2:08.64 and seventh in the 200 freestyle relay on 1:56.58. Katie Royce, Callie Anderson, Tabetha Jameison and Andie Royce-Miller finished eighth in the 400 freestyle relay in 4:38.14.

Switzerland County's Allison Furnish qualified for the finals in one individual event and as a part of two relays. The senior was eighth in the 100 freestyle in 58.62 and then she teamed with Alisha Detmer, Brooke Johnson and Deanna Voris to place fifth in the 400 freestyle relay in 4:22.87 and sixth in the 200 freestyle relay in 1:56.40.

Madison swimmers also qualified for the consolation finals in 12 events by placing ninth through 16th. Qualifiers were: Stoner, ninth, 50 free, 28.18 and 12th, 100 free, 1:02.00; Nay, 10th, 100 back, 1:11.54; Royce, 11th, 200 IM, 2:43.85 and 12th, 500 free, 6:17.28; Anderson, 12th, 100 fly, 1:20.84 and 16th, 200 IM, 2:54.72; Jameison, 12th, 100 back, 1:13.30; Grady, 13th, 100 breast, 1:24.42 and 16th, 100 free, 1:03.74; and Lynch, 14th, 100 back, 1:16.63 and 16th, 50 free, 29.98.

Worcester qualified for the consolation round by placing ninth in the 200 freestyle in 2:11.49 and Owen was 15th in the 100 backstroke in 1:16.76. The Rebels' quartet of Worcester, Owen, Bare and Crawford placed ninth in the 400 freestyle relay in 4:39.12.

Furnish placed 11th in the 200 freestyle in 2:13.93 to qualify for the consolation round while Johnson, Josie Stogsdill, Voris and Detmer were 11th in the 200 medley relay in 2:30.19.

Other finishes for Madison were: Royce-Miller, 17th, 200 free, 2:31.33 and 20th, 100 free, 1:07.52; Jameison, 17th, 50 free, 30.22; Haruna Sasaki, 22nd, 200 IM, 3:20.00 and 23rd, 100 breast, 1:33.97; Alyssa Storm, 24th, 2:58.02; Autumn Hedgepeth, 25th, 200 free, 2:58.48; and Vanina Kelsey, 32nd, 100 breast, 1:50.49.

Other finishes for Southwestern were: Owen, 19th, 100 free, 1:06.84; and Bare, 30th, 50 free, 35.14 and 30th, 100 free, 1:20.29.

Other finishes for Switzerland County were: Detmer, 17th, 100 free, 1:04.90; Voris, 18th, 200 IM, 2:56.09; Johnson, 20th, 100 back, 1:25.78; Stogsdill, 28th, 100 breast, 1:38.68; Ning Wang, 35th, 50 free, 37.70; and Zoe Walston, 36th, 50 free, 38.76.

The finals and consolation rounds will begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday at Floyd Central's Highland Hills Middle School near Galena.

Leveilles 2020 Golden Shamrock winners

Jim and Sara Leveille, long-time supporters of the Prince of Peace Catholic Schools, have been awarded the 2020 Golden Shamrock.

Golden Shamrock is the highest award within the Prince of Peace Catholic Schools and is based on long-term support of the schools, long-term community and volunteer service, a positive image in the community and much more.

The Leveilles have been part of the schools and community since 1999. Their association with Shawe schools started when their oldest son, Jimmy, began his seventh grade year in August 2000.

Sara Leveille drove for the Junior/Senior High Cross Country Team and also ran Shawe's "study hall" in the student lounge. Jim Leveille helped coach the Junior High Cross Country team when their middle son, Kenny, was in seventh grade and the only runner during that year. After that year, Jim Leveille became the coach for both varsity and junior high while Sara Leveille became his assistant. They both coached junior and senior high cross country and track for Shawe for the next 12 years.

By the time their youngest son, Joey, started attending Shawe Memorial Jr./Sr. High School, the Leveilles became even more active in the community. In addition to volunteering as study hall monitor and driving athletes to running sports meets, Sara Leveille also drove students to field trips, assisted then counselor Lisa Gray and substitute taught when there was a substitute teacher shortage.

Jim Leveille has continued as the Shawe cross country coach for 18 seasons. Though both stepped down from track in 2012, Jim Leveille came back when needed in 2015 and 2016.

The Leveilles said they are grateful for the support and encouragement they have received from their athletes, other coaches, faculty and administrators at Shawe.

"Coaching at Shawe isn't easy," Jim Leveille said. "There are limited numbers of athletes and facilities, but we believe that while academics is the most important task and the reason we sent our sons here, athletics and the lessons they teach are nearly as important. You take a video-gaming complacent kid as a seventh grader on a 95-degree day on a run up Hatcher Hill, and he or she learns very quickly the difference between real life and what is seen on a gaming screen. There is no substitute for character, resilience and discipline that athletics, especially cross country, can imbue."

Another event that Jim Leveille is active in has been the annual Molly Dattilo 5K Run/Walk and Student Races, where he runs from the start to the finish line.

"Jim and Sara Leveille are great representatives of Shawe and Pope John," said Phil Kahn, president of Prince of Peace Schools. "They are wonderful people, great role models and always have a smile on their faces. We can't thank you enough for your long time dedication to Shawe student athletes and our schools over the year."

Dean's and president's lists

University of Kentucky

More than 1,950 undergraduate students have qualified for the fall 2019 College of Arts and Sciences dean's list at the University of Kentucky, including several from the Courierarea. Among those students honored are Mackenzie Ott of Madison, Autumn Ames of Bedford, Morgan Ruffra of Bedford, Sydney Ball of Carrollton, Seth Ricketts of Pendleton, Trenton Tompkins of Pendleton and Sean Adams of Campbellsburg. Students on the dean's list earned 12 or more credit hours as letter grades with a minimum grade point average of 3.60 for the semester. The College of Arts and Sciences is home to 19 academic departments that offer major degrees in 27 disciplines and 36 minors to every undergraduate student at the University of Kentucky.

Ball State University

Area students Megan Gray, Ben Jett, Riley McGarry, Daija O'Banion and Emma Stacier have been named to the Fall 2019 dean's list at Ball State University. An undergraduate student makes the dean's list when the student has earned at least a 3.5 grade point average for 12 or more credits of graded course work during a semester or six or more credits of graded course work during a summer term. Ball State University is a public research university that offers about 190 undergraduate majors, 130 minor areas of study and more than 140 master's, doctoral, certificate and specialist degrees.

Trine University

Adam Anderson of Madison and Ronald Everitt of Scottsburg were named to Trine University's President's List for the Fall 2019 term. To earn President's List honors, main campus students must complete a minimum of 15 hours and have a grade point average of 3.75 to 4.0. Trine University is an internationally recognized private institution that offers associate's, bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees.

University of Evansville

Tanner Craig of Scottsburg, Gregory Maas of Madison, Jordan Dean of Madison, Zachary Eaglin of Madison, John Sutter of Lexington and Olivia Ommen of Madison were named to the Fall 2019 dean's list at the University of Evansville. To be named on the dean's list, students must carry a full academic load of 12 hours or more, excluding pass/fail courses, and have earned a grade point average of 3.5 or above. The University of Evansville has students from 44 states and 52 countires and more than 80 majors in the arts and sciences and pre-professional programs.

Case Western Reserve University

Harper Smith of Madison was named to the Fall 2019 dean's list at Case Western Reserve University. The dean's list recognizes students who meet or surpass a 3.5 semester grade point average. Case Western Reserve University, founded in 1826, is in Cleveland, Ohio, and has 5,150 undergraduate students.

Pensacola Christian College

John McCarty of Madison and Jonah Stephan of Hanover were named to the Pensacola Christian College's dean's list for academic achievement during the Fall 2019 semester.

Pensacola Christian College is a liberal arts college that has nearly 5,000 students pursuing undergraduate, graduate or seminary degrees. Students named on the dean's list earned a semester grade point average of 3.00 or higher.

Cedarville University

Dorothy Golden of Campbellsburg, Kentucky, was named to the Cedarville University dean's list for Fall 2019. To be on the dean's list, students must obtain a 3.5 grade point average or higher for the semester and carry a minimum of 12 credit hours. Cedarville University is a private Baptist university that offers more than 150 programs of study to undergraduate, graduate and online students.

University of the Cumberlands

In recognition of academic performance, Kerry Tackett of Sanders, Kentucky, Alecia McAllister of Turners Station, Kentucky, and Whitney Rodgers of Pendleton, Kentucky, were named to the president's list for the fall 2019 semester by the office of the vice president for academic affairs at University of the Cumberlands. To be eligible for the president's list, students must maintain a minimum cumulative grade point average of 4.0, receive an "A" grade in UC Engage and be in good acadmeic standing. The University of the Cumberlands offers undergraduate, graduate, doctoral and online degree programs.

American Legion post sessions to help veterans

Military veterans in and around Bartholomew, Brown, Dearborn, Jackson, Jefferson, Jennings, Lawrence, Orange, Ripley, Scott, Switzerland and Washington counties are invited to a special service session Feb. 15 through Feb. 17 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at American Legion Post 33 at 515 X St. in Bedford, Indiana.

American Legion staff will be available there to discuss veterans' benefits, the Legion's legislative efforts, membership opportunities and service to the community. A veteran service officer will also be available to discuss claims and other benefits questions.

In keeping with over 100 years of tradition, the American Legion said, posts in this area will focus on community service and assistance to veterans. The scope and nature of the posts' community service will be determined by its members and through input from local civic and community officials.

Effort to bring Imagination Library to Jefferson County

River Valley Reads (RVR), the literacy program of River Valley Resources, and the Jefferson County United Way have jointly applied for a matching grant of up to $100,000 to help fund and bring Dolly Parton's Imagination Library to Jefferson County.

Dolly Parton's Imagination Library is a unique program that mails a new, age-appropriate book to the homes of children every month from birth to age 5. As local affiliate organizations, RVR and United Way will promote the program and sign up children to receive their free books.

The money raised will help establish and fully fund the program for three years. The intention in the future is to reapply for grants and ask the community to help sustain it for many years to come.

Launched in 1995 in Dolly Parton's hometown of Pigeon Forge, Tennessee, Dolly Parton's Imagination Library now mails more than a million books per month to children around the world.

Money can be donated to the Jefferson County Dolly Parton's Imagination Library by mailing a check payable to the United Way with "DPIL" on the memo line to 100 East Second Street, Madison, Indiana 47250. Up to $50,000 will be matched and any of the $100,000 not spent will be applied to the fourth and subsequent years of the program.

For more information, email Tracy Geglein at tracy@rivervalleyresources.com or Sheila Coffin at jcunitedway@gmail.com

Hanover College screens butterfly documentary

The Hanover College Environmental Stewardship committiee, in partnership with Big Oaks National Wildlife Refuge, will screen the documentary film "The Guardians" Feb. 12 at 7 p.m. in Hanover College's Classic Hall, Room 102.

A meditation on the balance between humans and nature, "The Guardians" covers the lives of the threatened Monarch butterfly with an indigenous community fighting to restore the forest that was nearly destroyed. The film will be followed by a short panel discussion of the film and the plight of Monarchs and those who act as their guardians.

Admission is free and this event will be open to the public. The Jefferson County Pollinator Action Group, Oak Heritage Conservancy and the Pollinator Partnership also support this event.

Smyrna Homemakers

Smyrna Homemakers met Jan. 15 at Resurrection Lutheran Church. Twelve members and one guest were present.

The meeting was opened by President Glenda Schirmer, who led the Pledge of Allegiance. Roll call was answered with "What is your funniest commercial."

The Ronald Reagan thought of the month was "We cannot help everyone, but everyone can help someone." Members then sang "Frosty the Snowman."

Jane Wilson gave the treasurer report and Wanda Stewart gave the secretary report. March 10 is the District Meeting at Rising Sun and registration is due by March 1.

The lesson handout was titled "Take Time For Your Health." June Chatham gave a lesson on foods high in calories and fat. More dates for selling quilt raffle tickets were set.

Anyone interested in joining the Homemakers can call the County Extension Office at 812-265-8919 for more information. The next meeting will be at noon Feb. 19 at Resurrection Lutheran Church.

Sunshine Homemakers

The Sunshine Homemakers met at the home of Dorothy Morgan Wednesday, Jan. 8. Morgan led the meeting by repeating the Homemakers Creed and the Pledge of Allegiance. Louise Anthony gave devotions from John 12-14. Roll call was answered with the question "what is your funniest commercial?" The thought of the month was "We cannot help everyone. but everyone can help someone," by Ronald Reagan. The group sang "Frosty the Snowman." Marie Black gave the secretary report and Anthony gave the treasurer report. The lessons, "Take Time for Your Health and Fall Free" and "A Lesson on Fall Prevention" were distributed.

BRIDGE

TAKE YOUR TIME TO FIND THE ANSWER

Terry Pratchett, an Englishman who, inter alia, authored 41 fantasy novels about Discworld, wrote, "A marriage is always made up of two people who are prepared to swear that only the other one snores."

That doesn't have anything specific to do with today's deal, but I think it is amusing. Some players metaphorically snore at the table, just bidding and playing by rote, rather than analyzing the deal and trying to find the right line of play or defense.

In this deal, how can West defeat three hearts after leading the spade ace: four, 10, two?

The auction was interesting. After West opened one spade, North had a minimum two-level overcall, but he did have opening strength, and bridge is a bidder's game. South had a minimum for his two-heart advance. West's two-spade rebid promised at least a six-card suit. North supported with support. South happily passed, knowing that if four hearts were good, his partner would have bid it.

West continued with the spade king at trick two: eight, diamond three, seven. Then he paused. How did he view the prospects?

West, knowing that his partner had started with a singleton spade and scant high-card values, could see four winners: three spades and one heart. But where was number five?

West shifted to his singleton club at trick three. South won in his hand and played a low trump, but West took the trick with his ace and continued with his low spade. East ruffed and gave his partner a club ruff to defeat the contract.

Era of exclamation point?

Annie Lane

Dear Annie: My brother recently told me that my sister-in-law (his wife) was anxious about an upcoming family lunch we'd both be at because she thought I was mad at her. The reason? I'd responded to one of her texts with "Thanks," followed by a period. She thought because I didn't use an exclamation point or emoji, I was being passive-aggressive. We cleared it up and are fine now (though it still bothers me a little bit that she went straight to assuming the worst).

At work, I've also noticed this trend toward exclamation points being the norm. A young woman started a few months ago. She is very sweet and upbeat — but in every email she sends, she uses about five exclamation points. Sometimes she ends a sentence with two or three of them.

It seems to be contagious because I've noticed exclamation points working their way into other co-workers' emails with greater frequency. I am hoping by sticking to my guns and only using periods and commas, I can prevent an all-out exclamation invasion.

What do you think? Are exclamation points overused these days, or am I being a grumpy old lady? — Punctuation Problems

Dear Punctuation Problems: Exclamation points have become commonplace, and that's not necessarily a bad thing. For all the convenience of emails and texts, there is one major drawback: They lack tone. This is the problem that emojis and exclamation points seek to solve. I think they're successful in that.

Still, I commend you for your de-exclamation efforts. They shouldn't be compulsory. If people take your punctuation as a personal offense, then they've got too much time on their hands.

Dear Annie: This is regarding "Parents at Crossroads," the couple whose adult son had depression and was living at home and refused to get a job. My son, now 23, was diagnosed with major depressive disorder at age 8. He was hospitalized for a suicide attempt several months later. He's had one other involuntary hospitalization since then, and I long ago lost count of the number of ER visits and police calls. At 23, he still lives at home.

I, however, have set some firm rules. To live at home he must take his medication each day. We use a weekly pill container to ensure compliance. He must attend counseling, and he had to list me as a person the office could give information to, so I could call to be sure he actually went. He has to either be working or going to college or training programs. I've also let him know failure to do those three things will result in not only his removal from our home but a report as a danger to himself or others if necessary, to ensure his safety.

Now he is in college, and it is slow going. He also works. It's not easy some days. I, too, suffer from major depressive disorder as well as PTSD. So I understand the feeling of wanting to give up. But I've always made sure my son knows he is loved and the depression is not his fault and nothing to be ashamed of. And the rules and the routine help him every day, he says. — Carrie

Dear Carrie: Thank you so much for sharing your story. You offer a model of how to support a family member while maintaining healthy boundaries and enforcing expectations.
